National Museum

Create Your Own PSA Activity Making An Impact

In Making An Impact, we focus on the many contributions made by members of the Arab American community and how they've impacted the world. Unfortunately, many people don't know about the Arab American community in general, let alone all of the positive contributions made throughout our community's history. Making An Impact is one of the most important exhibits we have, and our hope is that people will see how many contributions our community has made...and here's how you can help.

Directions: Create your own public service announcement (PSA) to inform people about the positive contributions Arab Americans have made in society. Pretend you are delivering this ad to someone who knows nothing about Arab Americans and their contributions. You can create a radio ad or TV commercial, write a song or poem, or produce any other form of expression that works for you. Be as creative as you want!
