What does your Grand Gala sponsorship make possible?

CLASSROOM VISITS
Since 2020, AANM has presented a variety of educational programs both online and in-person, reaching classrooms across the nation. These year-round programs include virtual live and guided tours, interactive activities for students, video and audio resources for the classroom, and more. These impactful experiences allow students to explore Arab American history and culture and learn about the diversity of our nation.

It was extremely educational and well designed. This tour, and the way it was delivered, did a great job presenting the Arab American culture. On a grander scale, it also brings into focus how all cultures have similarities and are connected to each other. Very well done.

ENGAGING EDUCATIONAL PROGRAMS
AANM kicked off 2022 with the AANM Writing Fellows program, a creative writing fellowship for high school students in metro Detroit. One of the first programs to bring students back in-person, this 5-month long fellowship gave students an opportunity to work one-on-one with professional artists as they worked to hone their writing and storytelling craft. The program culminates in an open mic event and published anthology featuring work produced by the students during the fellowship.

TRAVELING EXHIBITIONS
AANM exhibitions illustrate the immigrant experience and counter misconceptions and stereotypes about Arab Americans. Photographer Jim Lommasson’s What We Carried: Fragments & Memories from Iraq & Syria is a traveling exhibition that documents the life-changing journeys of Iraqi and Syrian refugees to America and sheds light on the challenges they faced in search of stability. Over 750,000 people viewed this exhibition at the Ellis Island National Museum of Immigration History in New York from June to September 2019.

INNOVATIVE ARTISTIC ENDEAVORS
AANM reopened in February 2022 with full force, featuring three new exhibitions: soft powers by Yasmine Nasser Diaz; reCRAFTED Histories by Zahra Almajidi; and al-Falaq by Alia Ali. The breadth and variety of these artists reflects our intention to uplift, support and showcase artists of color from the Arab world, while also archiving their work as part of the larger Arab American story.
